A Risk Management Guide!

Why Take the Risk?

Conduct Background Checks on ALL Employees You Hire!

Are you willing to risk...

- Damage to your reputation?
- Business interruption?
- Being held liable for unknown facts?
- Litigation?

In the long run, it is far less expensive to do a background check than deal with the disruptions to your work place, damage to your reputation, third party liability issues and potential financial loss that may result from hiring the wrong person.

Conduct background checks for all of your new hires from the maintenance staff to physicians. Many employers hurry through the hiring process because they need someone in a position. Omitting this critical step could set back your organization and the resulting costs will greatly exceed the cost of a background check.

If you need assistance on where to go to have you background checks conducted consult your insurance agent.
